Color War has Begun!!!

On the night of Wednesday, August 5th, Color War broke! It was incredibly exciting! In this special edition of the Poplar Post, you will find the clues that were given to the Bunk One Girls prior to Color War, as well as a summary of the events that lead up to the break of Color War. We hope you enjoy reading about it!

The Break of Color War 2009

When Bryn Mawr was founded in 1921, all of the campers got along and everything was harmonious. That was before the Bryn Mawr Angel's halo broke. Now, Lake Bryn Mawr Camp is divided. Some would return the halo to the Angel and restore peace to Bryn Mawr, while others would use it to their own advantage.

This week, Super Cabin One has received many clues regarding the Bryn Mawr Angel and her broken halo. First, they received a land deed, on the back of which was a cipher written in ink that could only be read using a black light. Using the cipher and the Angel Code, Bunk One solved the clue. Using the clue and the map brought by Dr. Jonas, Bunk One lead Lake Bryn Mawr Camp down to the lake, where a piece of the broken halo was supposedly hidden.

Upon arrival, Dr. Jonas discovered that he was too late! The nefarious Mr. Montana's sidekick Han had already escaped with the piece of broken halo. Dr. Jonas pursued him.

The other piece of the halo was hidden on top of an erupting volcano. Dr. Jonas, Mr. Montana, Han and Selena made the dangerous journey to the top of the volcano, where Dr. Jonas and Mr. Montana fought over the second half of the halo. Mr. Montana won, and united the two halves.

Han and Mr. Montana then raced to the Lost Cave of the Angels, with Selena and Dr. Jonas following hot on their tails. The boulder blocking the entrance of the cave was too heavy to move alone, so Mr. Montana, Han, Dr. Jonas and Selena had to work together to get it to move. They then encountered a bunch of islands, which they crossed by building a bridge. The adventurers then lit up the dim cave using the spirit of the Bryn Mawr campers.

When the lights turned on, a group of angels was revealed. Mr. Montana, Han, Dr. Jonas and Selena were then asked to determine who the true angel was. At Mr. Montana's command, Han guessed first. He guessed wrong, because his choice was not made from the heart. Selena chose next, at Mr. Montana's bidding, but her choice was also wrong, because it was a choice made in an act of disloyalty. Mr. Montana himself made the next choice, because he was afraid that Dr. Jonas's guess would be correct. His choice was also wrong, because it was a greedy choice. Dr. Jonas was the last man standing, and he correctly identified the Bryn Mawr angel. With the halo once again in the possession of the Bryn Mawr angel, peace and unity was restored to Bryn Mawr Camp. The restoration of the halo also marked the beginning of Color War 2009!

Carly Silverman: A hint would be the Angel Code.
Maggie Ehrlich: This land was built with merit, not greed.
Sarah Ehrlich: Is it just a piece of paper, what does it mean?
Kelly Ginsberg: Does it have to do anything with the color gold and green?
Hally Gordon: People want a piece of it
Lizzy Koblenz: That you can be sure.
Alexa Leen: It all goes back to the broken halo
Amanda Levin: Or so that is the lore.
Dara Pinkus: With comradeship, you can figure out this lead
Erika Pinkus: First you need to discover more about this deed.
Avery Popofsky: Your voices need to be heard
Brooke Poznak: All throughout the land
Ali Rafal: Together your spirit is oh so grand.
